Airplane Crashes Kill 67

One Apparently Has Motor Trouble, Interferes With Flight of Another

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Two C119 Flying Boxcar transports collided in the air and crashed into the Black Forest today. The U. S. Air Force announced 67 men were killed.

The Air Force said the death toll included the crews of the two American aircraft as well as soldiers being transported.

The Flying Boxcars have a normal seating capacity of 67, with a maximum capacity of 78.

The planes were two of a nine-plane flight which had just taken off from Echterdingen Field, near here, on a training mission with troops from the U. S. 7th Army aboard.

The Air Force announcement said:

"Initial reports said that one plane developed engine trouble just after takeoff, after reaching a cruising level of 4,000 feet. The crippled plane lost altitude momentarily, then pulled up abruptly across the front of another aircraft in the formation.

"The crippled plane went down immediately. The second plane flew level for almost one minute, then went out of control and nosed into the ground."

The announced death toll would make this the fourth worst air disaster in history. A total of 129 U. S. servicemen died in the flaming wreckage of a C124 Globemaster near Tokyo in 1953. In 1952 another C124 crashed on taking off from Larson Air Force Base, in Washington state, killing 87. In 1950, a commercial plane carrying soccer fans crashed at Cardiff, Wales, with a death toll of 80 persons.

Today's was West Germany's biggest postwar air disaster and also the biggest military death toll in an aircraft crash in Western Europe.

Path of Death Results When Cafe Explodes

ANDOVER, Ohio (AP)—A roaring blast and swirling flames tore a path of death last night through a row of buildings on the village square. Many of the victims had taken refuge there from a storm.

There were 19 bodies accounted for, most of them in a makeshift morgue inside a garage three blocks away. The injured numbered at least 18. In the confusion, there were reports of at least 2 persons missing.

The center of the disaster was the Gateway Restaurant in this village in the resort area of Pymatuning Lake, along the Pennsylvania border. The restaurant and a dairy store were in a 2-story frame building which disintegrated with a force that shook the whole town. It has a population of about 1,200.

Through the sodden ashes and debris the squads of silent firemen worked in a drizzle until 5 a.m. today. Then they stopped for rest and food.

At 2 a.m. they had pulled the 17th body from under the sagging and blackened timbers which had fallen into the cellar. After that they had been able to recover only portions of bodies.

Debris showered Main Street in front of the restaurant, ripping up sections of the street and wrecking several automobiles. Then the flames whipped on to other buildings.

A Cleveland policeman, Elmer Bumbles, was driving past the restaurant at the time of the explosion and gave this description of the disaster:

"The walls blew out and the roof fell in. There were arms and legs sticking out of the wreckage all over the building."

Have You Noticed?

The favorite pastime of Sedalians in this mild weather seems to be inspecting the soles of their shoes for chat fastened with asphalt. It seems more than Ohio Avenue is being re-surfaced.

The temperature at 7 a.m. was 63, 63 at 1 p. m. and 83 at 2 p. m.

The temperature one year ago today, high 88, low 66; two years ago, high 97, low 72; and three years ago, high 87, low 66, with 1.12 inch of rain.

Fair tonight and Friday. Low tonight in upper 60s. High Friday in upper 80s.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 57.1 steady.

Sedalia Units Busy Doing Various Encampment Jobs

Both of Sedalia's National Guard units—the Adjutant General section of division headquarters and Company C of the 128th Field Artillery battalion—were busy themselves on totally different fronts today as the two-week summer encampment swung into its final week.

Although seldom seen struggling through the barbed-wire entanglements, members of the AG section pull the strings backstage that contribute to making summer camp the smooth-running activity it is.

This section performs a variety of administrative duties ranging from the control and processing

Veteran Fire Truck Driver Has Accident

Truck Hits Auto Enroute to Alarm On North Osage

Enroute to a fire at 418 North Osage, the fire truck from the East Sedalia station was damaged when it struck a parked car at Pettis and Washington. None of the firemen were injured, and after a hurried investigation the truck continued to the fire.

Lee May, 705 South Engineer, veteran driver for the fire department, was at the wheel of the new truck. May was headed north on Washington and making a left turn on to Pettis when the accident occurred. The car, a 1941 Ford truck owned by Ike Young, 217 West Pettis, was parked in front of 319 East Pettis and was knocked about five feet.

The Sedalia firemen spent eight hours firing about 60 rounds of live ammunition from their 105-millimeter howitzers. Their target was a hill 5,000 yards away.

"So far things appear to be moving along very well," said Capt. William H. Glavin, commanding officer of the battery. "This cooler weather has a lot to do with it."

In tomorrow's drill, battalion efficiency will be tested by how rapidly the various companies can occupy a position and proceed through the twelve different types of fire missions. Chief missions among this group include the target of opportunity, registration, instruction, time fire and transfer missions.

"Today we were just getting the burrs out," said Lt. Richard Dean, battery executive officer, "but tomorrow we'll be concentrating heavily on over-all accuracy and speed."

Company C will leave Camp McCoy by train Friday morning and arrive in Sedalia Saturday at 10:15 a.m. The truck convoy will arrive in Sedalia later that afternoon at 4 p. m.

The only damage to the Ford was red paint from the fire truck being rubbed off on a small portion of the body of the Ford, to the truck considerable damage resulted to the right front fender.

The fire was at the home of Charles Lee and family and Mrs. Julia Pressley, 418 North Osage. A small room at the rear of the residence was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived. The origin of the fire was undetermined.

Damage to the residence, which is owned by Dr. A. R. Maddox, was estimated at $200 and about $200 damage to the contents.

Smoke from the fire drifted over the city to the south and past Broadway around Missouri Ave. Police cars in that part of town were searching for a fire in that area while the fire was on North Osage.

One of the patrol cars on the other part of town came upon the fire and radioed to police headquarters to sound the alarm when residents in the area called the fire companies.

Libraries Eligible For State Assistance

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Local library boards can breathe a little easier as the result of an opinion by Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton today.

He held that a law passed by the 1955 Legislature, requiring tax levies to be reduced when assessment levels are boosted 10 per cent or more, is no threat to continued state aid for city and county libraries.

The opinion was requested by Paxton P. Price, state librarian. It noted that the new law makes it clear no school or library tax shall be cut below the point of eligibility for state aid.

Weather Stays Same

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The weather forecast for today and tomorrow is short and sweet:

Mostly fair, little change in temperature.

Gambler's Widow Now Hospitalized

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Grace Koenig, widow of the slain East St. Louis, Ill., gambler, has been hospitalized for a week, reportedly for a "severe nervous disorder."

A St. Clair County grand jury is scheduled to open an inquiry Monday into the death of J. Fred Koenig, whose bullet-riddled body was found stuffed in the trunk of his car last June 22.

Mrs. Koenig, who has been subpoenaed to testify, had refused to give testimony at a coroner's inquest earlier.

Ike Selects D. A. Quarles For Cabinet

To Replace Talbott As Air Secretary, Defense Assistant

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today named Donald A. Quarles—top man in the earth satellite project—as the new secretary of the Air Force.

Quarles is now assistant secretary of Defense for research and development. He is 61, a native of Van Buren, Ark., and more recently a resident of Englewood, N.J. He is a Republican.

Quarles will succeed Harold Talbott who resigned Aug. 1, effective this Saturday, after the Senate Investigations subcommittee publicly explored Talbott's outside business interests and raised a question of ethics.

The appointment will be subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Quarles was recommended to Eisenhower by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

When a reporter asked about Quarles' private business holdings and what was being done about them, Hagerty said he was not in a position to answer that.

The Air Force has planned a mammoth farewell salute to Talbott for late this afternoon, including a display of jet planes if the weather does not interfere.

Quarles became assistant secretary of Defense Aug. 2, 1952. He is a graduate of Yale and was a World War I field artillery captain.

From 1919 to 1948 he was an engineer for the Bell Telephone Laboratories and served as vice president of that firm from 1948 to 1952. He also is a former vice president of the Western Electric Co. and a former president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

As assistant secretary of Defense, Quarles has concentrated on pushing guided missile programs. He came to the Pentagon after serving as president of the Sandia Laboratory in New Mexico which does highly specialized research for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Is Determined To Penetrate BAC Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Celler (D-NY) said today he will subpoena "everybody in sight," if necessary, to penetrate what he called the "aura of secrecy" around the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council.

Celler is chairman of a House Judiciary subcommittee on monopolies investigating the role in government of "WOC's," or business men serving without compensation in federal agencies while continuing to draw salaries from their private firms.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and the council's executive director, Walter S. White, refused yesterday to give the subcommittee access to the council's files and records. White said the files are in the department's custody and he could not produce them without violating the law.

The orders were issued by the Russian naval staff yesterday as Russia, in a formal note to Sweden, denied that Soviet submarines were in any way involved.

News Flashes--

Cuts Off Federal Aid — WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today temporarily shut off federal help on more than six billion dollars worth of proposed industrial plant expansion. The action was taken pending a review of defense necessity of the expansion program.

Holds Prison Escapees — ARKADAPOLIS, Ark. (AP)—Clark County Sheriff Duren Hardin said today that he was holding two escapees from a Minnesota prison who had in their possession money bags that bore the name of a St. Joseph, Mo. bank.

Ready for Heat Barrier — WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced today it's ready for the first rocket powered flight by the X2 research plane, designed to penetrate the heat barrier with speeds of roughly 2,000 miles per hour or more.

A Public Service--

Local Doctors Donate Free Medical Assistance at Fair

Dr. Pete Siegel, Smithton, president of the Pettis County Medical Society, announced today that the members of the Medical Society will provide professional service at the emergency hospital located on the Fair Grounds during the Missouri State Fair. This service is being provided as a public service to the citizens of the state of Missouri and at no cost to the state.

Formerly the Missouri State Fair employed a physician to be in charge of the hospital and to be in attendance to care for emergencies. However, for the past two years there was no physician employed and registered nurses provided first aid treatment. Any serious or potentially serious illness or injury necessitated calling a local physician or sending the patient to the hospital in Sedalia.

Members of the Medical Society will be in attendance at the emergency hospital, located at the south end of the grandstand from 6 a.m. until midnight. Emergencies and minor injuries that can be cared for in the emergency hospital will be done at no cost to the patient or to the Fair. Injuries or illness of a serious nature requiring more extensive treatment or hospital care will be referred to a physician of their choice or to the Bothwell Hospital in Sedalia. In such cases the patient will be expected to pay for hospital or professional bills incurred.

Crimes Have People on Edge As Call Shows

"There's screaming and shouting out here," a woman called the Sedalia police department about 9:55 p.m. Wednesday. The woman then gave the location, north of Sedalia just off of Highway 65 on the gravel road just north of Springfield Cabins.

Deputy Sheriff Ed George, George Brown, a newspaper reporter and Police Sergeant Hugh Williams went to the location and were unable to locate anyone in the vicinity. A check of the road failed to show any signs of a struggle, parked car or cars or anything.

A check of a nearby farmhouse revealed a young boy, while returning home in his car, had run over his dog. The dog was seriously injured and was yelping and creating much noise. The boy went to his home, obtained a gun, returned and shot the dog.

The recent Mrs. Allen case in Kansas City has had people on edge and any unusual disturbance has caused persons to notify the police immediately.

"Not a bad idea though," remarked the officers.

Strange Submarines

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Swedish navy has been placed on a special alert following five reports of unidentified submarines in Swedish waters in the past month.

The orders were issued by the Russian naval staff yesterday as Russia, in a formal note to Sweden, denied that Soviet submarines were in any way involved.

Doctor's Murder Trial In Closing Session

MCALISTER, Okla. (AP)—The state was expected to wind up its side of the Dr. Ben T. Galbraith murder trial today with a visit by jurors to the scene of the March 17 tragedy.

Galbraith, a 34-year-old McAlester heart specialist, is accused of the murder of his wife, Mary Katherine, and their three children.

Lewis L. Strauss Says--

AEC Sees H-Bomb Harnessing As Very Long Range Project

GENEVA (AP)—Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the American Atomic Energy Commission, said today the United States is trying to determine whether H-bomb energy can be harnessed for peaceful purposes. But, he added, "there's nothing in the way of a breakthrough" and it looks like "a very long-range project."

Strauss told a news conference at the atoms-for-peace meeting here the United States has been "working on the subject for a considerable time."

Strauss, declaring there is no basic scientific principle to say that harnessing of fusion energy—as opposed to fission energy developed in the A-bomb—cannot be achieved, asserted "we do not know that it is impossible."

Finn Twins Change Mind Over Parole

At First Refused Parole Because Of Crime Implication

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The flying Finn twins have changed their minds and will accept parole, their attorney said today.

Joseph Scott, the attorney, said the brothers, on his advice, have agreed to sign papers which yesterday they refused to sign because "it would imply we were criminals."

He said the twins will seek modification of the parole terms so they will not be required to report periodically to a probation officer.

The twins, George and Charles, 41, were to have been released on parole yesterday after serving 114 days of one-year sentences for interfering with a federal officer.

They were flown here from the U.S. Medical Facility at Springfield, Mo., for their release.

The twins have maintained that they were within their rights in handcuffing U. S. Atty. Laughlin Waters in a "citizen's arrest" climaxing their dispute with the government over a war surplus plane.

The twins, Air Force veterans of the Berlin airlift, have staged two hunger strikes in protest against their jail sentence. They were force fed during a 79-day fast at the Springfield facility, which ended after Sen. Langer (R-ND) told them they would get a hearing before his subcommittee on constitutional rights.

Sand, Water Are Piling Up In Beach Area

Permanent Residents And Vacationers Seek Shelter Inland

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Hurricane Connie, still packing 100-mile wind, near the center, pounded the Carolina coastline today. High waves tore down fishing piers and other shore installations as the tropical storm moved relentlessly toward the land.

At the same time other portions of the Eastern Seaboard relaxed from the threat that has hung over the whole area for three days.

The Washington Weather Bureau said Connie's threat to areas north of the Virginia Capes appeared about over. Connie now is expected to wear itself out inland in the Carolinas. The hurricane area was terminated north of the Delaware breakwater.

There is still a possibility of hurricane force winds on the Virginia Capes and in the Norfolk area late tonight and early Friday, the bureau said.

The dangerous storm which threatened a vast stretch of the seaboard from Georgetown, S.C., north, was piling up sand and water in the streets of some North Carolina beach towns. Most vacationers and many permanent residents had sought shelter inland.

"It's blowing so hard you can hardly stand up," Police Chief M. E. Williamson reported from Wrightsville Beach, east of Wilmington.

The tide at Swansboro, north of here and near Jacksonville, was reported higher than it was during the same stage of hurricane Hazel.

Communication lines were going out in many areas feeling the force of Connie's extended outer gales.

New England was told, meanwhile, it could relax. The Boston Weather Bureau announced Connie is no longer threat to New England for at least the next 26 hours.

By 8 a.m. winds were near hurricane force of 75 miles an hour near Cape Fear, some 30 miles south of this port city. The eye crept along at about five to seven miles an hour toward the northwest.

A long stretch of coastline from Georgetown, S. C., to Cape Lookout, N.C., braced for the mounting fury of the storm. Connie still threatened the whole Eastern Seaboard from Savannah to Block Island, R.I.

Even as Connie whirled her menacing winds off the Carolinas resort area devastated last October by Hurricane Hazel, another tropical storm was developing in the Atlantic about 400 miles northeast of San Juan. The Miami Weather Bureau said the new storm, named Diane, has winds of 50 to 60 miles near the center and gales outward 100 miles. It is expected to grow stronger steadily, continuing its generally northwest movement at about 14 miles an hour.

The 8 a.m. Weather Bureau bulletin on Connie pushed hurricane warnings down the South Carolina coast as far as Cape Romain, about 50 miles northeast of Charleston. The red and black flags were up as far north as the Virginia Capes.

Tides in the area were four or five feet above normal and were expected to be double that in some places.

The Flying Pan Shoals lightship, 45 miles off the mouth of the Cape Fear River and 60 miles southeast of Wilmington, pitched and tossed in winds up to 90 miles an hour and raging seas as early as 7 a.m.

At the mouth of the Cape Fear near Southport coastguardsmen at Oak Island reported steady 60-mile winds.

Paul Moore, forecaster in the Miami storm warning center, noted that Connie was spreading out somewhat, thereby reducing peak wind velocity near the center. But she is far from a dying storm, he warned, and "We don't want anybody to let down their guard."

There were increasing reports of squalls from coastal villages and towns in Connie's path.

Talbott Farewell Is Slated for Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Subject to the vagaries of hurricane Connie, a jet power-packed farewell salute by the Air Force awaits departing Secretary Harold E. Talbott today.

If the hurricane leaves the Washington area alone and the weather clears by this afternoon, Talbott will take an aerial salute from about 100 airplanes, including a flight of supersonic fighters and possibly one or more giant B52 intercontinental bombers.

Talbott resigned a week ago Monday amid controversy over his outside activities. He leaves the government service officially on Saturday, but plans to fly out of Washington tomorrow.

This evening the Air Force will hold the indoor part of its farewell to Talbott. Gen. Nathan Twining, chief of staff, and all the senior air commanders have been invited to Washington to say their personal farewells at a dinner.

Connie Might Prove Very Costly 'Lady'

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Connie could be a very expensive young lady for business to entertain. The property owner isn't the only one to suffer when a hurricane starts a flirtation with the mainland.

Various businesses take a financial beating. But a few, after it's all over, stand to profit. Last year's tempestuous ladies of the winds even had a hand in weakening the exchange value of the British pound sterling for a time.

As a hurricane approaches the coast, utility and transportation companies round up emergency crews, stock up on repair materials. Airlines plot alternate routes, move planes out of the path, resign themselves to cancellations.

Resort owners shiver as much from the loss of business as from the prospect of property damage. With beaches closed to bathers, concession operators batten down for little or no business for awhile. Even the service stations see a drop in gasoline demand.

The aftermath of the storm is just as bad for the resort business. Not only damaged facilities and unsightly beaches, but also the psychological effect on would-be vacationers hammer at receipts.

If the hurricane cuts a wide enough swath across the mainland, its damage to crops may be enough to affect prices of certain commodities, or cause local or one-crop shortages.

The communication and transportation industries feel the first brunt of the storm. Preparations are costly. Afterward snarled lines, broken pipes, torn out bridges cause loss of income as well as property loss.

Retail trade suffers from loss of customers while the storm whirls by. Advertising managers of department stores all along the East Coast have been pouring over weather maps, trying to decide whether to promote sales of picnic baskets or raincoats. A big sale of sun suits might look pretty silly with Connie calling the tune.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, with Connie still at sea, readied its catastrophe loss adjustment procedure. It got set to send additional adjusters into any area the storm might hit, and was prepared, if necessary, to set up one or more temporary offices in hardest hit spots.

Hazel, one of last year's big blows, cost a one billion dollar property damage path across eastern United States and Canada, to the distress of some insurance companies as well as of many property owners.

Insurance payments had a strange aftermath. Seems British insurance companies were heavily involved, and since they had to pay in American or Canadian dollars their demand for the hard currency was one of the factors contributing to the temporary embarrassment of the British Exchequer late last year. The pound sterling dropped for a time in world money markets.

The shipper poodle breed of dog originated in what now is Belgium and is related to the Pomeranian.

Recent Airport Directory Gives Pilots Much Aid

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — The 1955 Directory of Landing Facilities in Missouri is being issued by the Aviation Section of the Missouri Division of Resources and Development.

Dale Fearn, chief of the aviation section, explained that its purpose is to serve as a guide to pilots in Missouri, offering them description and location of both public and personal use-type airports.

The booklet includes new aerial photos of public airports plus plan drawings and facilities listings.

"Probably the most unique thing about the directory," said Fearn, "is inclusion of personal use flight strips or 'flying farmer fields.' They were included to assist pilots in landing in areas not otherwise served by public airports as well as at times when weather may require precautionary landing."

A limited supply is being distributed to the aircraft owners of the state as well as a desk copy for each airport.

The directory lists 101 public airports and 99 personal use fields. Included are many resort landing strips, to serve recreation areas in Missouri. Some of these offer the flying vacationer a chance at areas not otherwise accessible.

Women Ministers Seek Equal Rights In Ordinations

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The American Assn. of Women Ministers has adopted two resolutions aimed at obtaining equal ordination rights for women in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.

The action was taken yesterday by 115 leaders attending a business session of the 36th annual national assembly of the organization at the National College here.

The group, in one resolution, asks presbyteries to concur with the favorable opinion of the Presbyterian General Assembly concerning admitting women as ministers in the church.

Another will go to the Methodist quadrennial general conference in Minneapolis next spring, requesting the church to admit women ministers to membership in the conferences of the denomination.

In a third resolution, the women ministers went on record as opposing universal military training. It will be forwarded to the President and Congress.

The Rev. M. Madeline Southard of Topeka is the association founder.

St. Louis Bond Issue Election Due Nov. 8

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis County Council has set Nov. 8 as the date for a bond issue election but put off a decision on the size of the proposal.

Frank Martini, council chairman, said after a closed meeting yesterday that members want more time to study the proposals.

The size of the bond election is scheduled to be discussed further at a meeting Monday night. Members of the Citizens' Screening Committee will attend this meeting.

The committee yesterday presented its formal recommendation to the council for a total of $55,170,710 in bond issue proposals. Martini, in reply to a question, said there is no indication this figure will be cut.

Ike Takes Auto After Warning About Hurricane

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower, warned off by the threat of hurricane Connie, travels back to Washington by automobile today instead of by plane.

Flight plans were abandoned late yesterday when Weather Bureau reports indicated some possibility that the Gettysburg-Washington area might be hit by at least the fringe of the hurricane.

The President arranged to return to Washington for conferences with key administration officials. They include Adm. Robert B. Carney, who is retiring Aug. 17 as chief of naval operations and as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Secretary of State Dulles; Atty. Gen. Brownell; and Secretary of Welfare Folsom.

It quite likely will be the Chief Executive's last opportunity to meet with those officials until he returns from a Colorado vacation, probably about mid-October.

Eisenhower plans to attend a Cabinet meeting at the White House tomorrow, then return to his Gettysburg farm for a stay until about noon Sunday. He intends to go back to Washington then to take off for Denver.

He had the assurance of a White House physician that Mrs. Eisenhower was feeling much better after a period of resting in bed on advice of her doctor.

Rep. Bolling Praises Bi-partisan Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bolling (D-Mo) reports that all members of Congress agree that a return to bi-partisanship in foreign affairs was the most important accomplishment of past session.

Bolling, in a letter to constituents, said yesterday that this year saw the end of the "brawls over our foreign policy which did so much to damage our nation."

In the field of defense matters, he added, "partisanship" has been largely avoided.

On domestic issues, Bolling asserted that Congress, "while more farsighted than the Eisenhower administration on many legislative matters," failed to enact laws adequate to meet the needs of the

Preacher Tells About Charges Against Him

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Rev. John Gerberding, second small town Lutheran pastor ordered to a church trial on charges of heresy, made public yesterday the eight charges the church spelled out against him.

Rev. Gerberding, 38, of Menomonee Falls in nearby Waukesha County, was accused by the North-west Synod of the United Lutheran Church of "preaching and teaching doctrines and opinions" in conflict with official doctrine. He issued a general denial of the charges and said "the thing now is to win the trial."

The minister appeared before a synod investigating committee last week. He was told then he will stand trial here Aug. 30.

Pastor Gerberding, father of three children, said "I am sure I will have a fair trial." The trial board will be made up of seven synod pastors.

The formal charges, which Pastor Gerberding made public yesterday, accuse him of "denying the divine authority of the Holy Scripture contrary to the witness of the Scripture itself and contrary to Lutheran confession." He refused to detail the other seven allegations except to say they were "derivative from the first one." He claimed they did not accurately "describe" his ministry.

Dr. Paul E. Bishop of Minneapolis, synod president, said the charges against Pastor Gerberding were "generally" similar to those on which the Rev. George P. Crist Jr., of Durham, also in Waukesha County, was convicted last month. Rev. Crist was suspended from his pulpit. His case is subject to review by the synod convention next spring.

Rev. Crist was found guilty of denying the virgin birth of Christ, the physical resurrection of Christ and the responsibility of Adam for man's sinfulness.

'Andy Carnegie,' Parakeet, Now Home After Visit

"Andy," a parakeet of Theresa Stohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Stohr, which was named for Andrew Carnegie, donor of Sedalia's Public Library has been found after being missing from the Stohr home, 500 West Fourth, since Wednesday noon. The bird which was out of its cage at the Stohr home flew over on the shoulder of Tommy Stohr, brother of Theresa, just as he walked out the door.

"Andy" out in the wide open spaces took to the air and flew high into a tree, Pete, who is a trooper on the State Highway Patrol, tried to coax the bird down, even to getting up in the tree, but the bird was too high up. Then early Thursday the bird was discovered up in a tree near the Catholic Sister's on Montauk Assistant Fire Chief Emmett "Potts" Vaughn went to the scene, climbed the tree and got "Andy" and returned him to Theresa.

The bird was won in a contest at the library about a year ago. Theresa decided on the name Andy. In the past year the bird has learned to say "Pretty Andy," "Pretty Boy," and these two sentences were heard constantly from the tree tops while he was on "vacation."

Town Not Sure Just Where It's Located

MAXVILLE, Mo. (AP)—This town of 50 residents isn't lost—it's just that no two maps agree exactly where it is.

And a Maxville civic club thinks the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., is using the wrong map (Rand McNally) for toll rate purposes and as a result the present 25 cent a call to St. Louis is a nickel too high.

The Rand McNally map shows the district from Maxville to Third and Locust in St. Louis as 19 miles. The Geodetic Map Survey shows the distance as 17.43 miles. To settle the rate dispute the phone company has asked the postal department to put Maxville back on the official postal map. It hasn't been on the map since it lost its post office around the turn of the century.

The toll rate, the company says, then would rest with the distance shown by the postal map.

Polio Cases in Rise Over Preceding Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—New polio cases reported by the states for last week showed a seasonal increase of about 36 per cent from the count of the week before, to a new high for the year at 1,409. The total, however, was lower than for the corresponding weeks of the last three years.

Summarizing the reports today, the Public Health Service said about 60 per cent of the cases reported in the week ended Aug. 6 occurred in the New England, Middle Atlantic and East North-Central states.

About half the nation's population is located in those states. The 1,409 cases last week compared with 1,037 in the preceding week and 1,608 in the corresponding 1954 week.

Russians Say Might Solve Plant Secret

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
GENEVA (AP)—Soviet scientists told the atoms-for-peace conference today they believe they are on the verge of solving the mystery of photosynthesis — nature's ingenious method of feeding the world.

A. L. Kursanov told the 72-nation parley that the Russians, using radioactive isotopes as tracers in plant studies, have found out a number of things about the process in which green plants under sunlight convert carbon dioxide and water into the sugars and starches that men and animals eat.

Men of science have long sought the secret of this process, hoping to duplicate it artificially as a help with the world's food problems. American scientists also have reported progress toward working out the puzzle.

Kursanov described the Soviet findings as "preliminary to the decisive step in the direction of solving the mystery of photosynthesis and of mastering this process."

"This probably will take place in the near future," he added. Kursanov reported the Russians have found that proteins as well as carbohydrates are direct products of photosynthesis in plant leaves. He said that carbohydrates are formed under the influence of the red and yellow parts of sunlight while proteins are formed under the influence of blue light.

This latter finding, he said, could be used in hothouse design to influence the quality and quantity of plants.

The United States, Canada and Russia reported on extensive aerial prospecting for uranium and thorium in addition to their widespread ground prospecting.

A U.S. paper said aerial surveys by multi-engine planes at altitudes of 500 feet are used to spot radioactivity in "broad areas not previously known to contain uranium or thorium deposits."

Both the U.S. and Russian papers also told of tests made from samplings of water.

Brazil likewise told the Congress it had found aerial prospecting for uranium and thorium the most effective method of locating uranium and thorium.

Rejected Suitor Shoots His Girl And Then Himself

LOUISIANA, Mo. (AP)—An 18-year old girl was shot and gravely wounded last night by a rejected suitor who then turned the weapon on himself, Assistant Police Chief Clifford Martin reported.

Loretta Scranton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Scranton, was in a critical condition at a hospital here. She was shot four times in the chest, shoulder and neck.

Also in a serious condition with bullet wounds in the chest and left arm was her assailant, 26-year-old Gilbert Stewart.

Martin said Stewart pulled a .38-caliber pistol from his shirt and fired at the girl after she had turned down his proposal of marriage. Stewart and Miss Scranton had been dating for about three weeks.

The shooting occurred in the front yard of the Scranton home. Before the shooting, Stewart called Mrs. Scranton from the home and asked whether she would give her consent to a marriage. Martin said that when she replied she would not, Stewart said:

"I've done just about everything but steal and kill, and I can kill, too."

Martin said that Stewart reloaded the weapon after shooting the girl four times and himself once and then fired another shot at himself. As Stewart collapsed, still holding the weapon, Lester Elliott, a neighbor, took the pistol away from him.

Plugging For And Against Quiet Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States is taking a hard look at a suggestion for more closed Security Council meetings as part of the current drive for secret diplomacy in the U.N.

A delegation source said today the question is being studied carefully here and in Washington. He pointed out that Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, has always favored the open forum idea in the U.N., which he has said produced dramatic results by enlisting the force of public opinion.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has been plugging what he calls "quiet diplomacy" since the 10th U.N. anniversary meeting in San Francisco in June. He says it should supplement the U. N. "conference diplomacy" which he argues falls short of world needs.

Shocking Carelessness . . .

It's amazing how careless people can be about electrical contrivances. A wire and a plug and a wall socket are taken for granted as uncomplicated devices to bring horsepower and illumination into the home, office or club. If either get out of whack a pen knife does the business of repair—it's as simple as that.

But the very simplicity of repairing electrical wiring offers a challenge to the do-it-yourself fraternity. Too often the unwary pay a penalty, usually a shock the potential of which is variable according to position or person.

Not long ago a 14-year-old Warrensburg girl was unconscious for 10 hours after suffering electrical shock. She was helping her mother with the family washing when she plugged in the cord to the washing machine. The cord had become partially uninsulated. She suffered burns on her hand and feet. She stood on the basement floor. A washing machine should be properly grounded and a wooden platform to keep feet off the damp floor in front of the machine offers a suggestion of further protection from accidental electrocution.

Periodic checks of wiring connections to household appliances is a domestic must these days especially with children around the premises. Insulation has a habit of drying out and cracking off, exposing the dangerous wires to burn hands. This is particularly so with cords to electric irons.

Such safety suggestions seem so elementary one hesitates to suggest them except that always coming along are new generations who somehow have missed instruction on the hazards about an ordinary household.

If an individual insists on doing electrical work about the house there is only one way to do it and that's the right way. Makeshift repairs offer temporary relief that may turn into permanent elimination from the scene of his endeavors. More often than not it will be the other fellow who gets the shocking surprise from inadequate electrical repairs.

GOP Determined to Nominate Ike Again

WASHINGTON — What's happening inside the Republican high command today is almost identical with what happened inside the Democratic high command in 1944 — with one important exception.

Like the Democratic bosses of a decade ago with FDR, Republican leaders today are determined to nominate Eisenhower again, regardless of age, health, or anything else.

In 1944, Franklin Roosevelt was engrossed with world affairs. The war was almost won. He was already concentrating on the problems of peace. Domestic affairs had been largely delegated to others. Some of them were not in good shape. Democratic leaders knew that if they picked any other candidate, that if the election campaign were run on domestic issues, they would lose.

So a careful publicity campaign began not only to make Roosevelt the indispensable man but to conceal from the public the true facts about his health.

And in July, 1944, as the Democrats gathered in Chicago to pick their candidate, Roosevelt started on a cruise up the west coast to Alaska — obviously for his health. Simultaneously, Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Ed Kelley of Chicago, and other party bosses, knowing that Roosevelt could not possibly last a full term, concentrated on the choice of their own man for vice president.

It was one of the most deceitful strategies ever put across on the voting public.

GOP Leaders Repeat

Today, Republican leaders are equally determined to nominate Dwight Eisenhower, in part for the same reasons. They know that any other Republican candidate would have a hard time winning. They know that on domestic issues — Dixon-Yates, farm prices, big business monopoly — the Republicans face a rough campaign. But on international issues they feel Eisenhower has struck a winning streak and can be promoted as the "indispensable man."

However, there is one big difference. Eisenhower so far hasn't bought the GOP line.

Unlike Roosevelt, who was willing to go along with party leaders, Eisenhower has been telling them for months that they had to pick new young leaders, that he was not going to run again.

On Jan. 4, this column reported in detail on one of the private dinners at the White House at which Ike told his closest friends that they must begin building up new, "dynamic" men to replace him.

This writer has consistently reported — with one exception — that Ike did not want to run again. The exception was a column written from Geneva, where it seemed to this observer that Ike had hit his stride, was doing the things he likes best to do, and probably could be persuaded to run again on a "peace-in-our-time" platform.

However, the recent meeting he had with Senator George Bender and other Ohio Republicans indicates to the contrary and is more significant than the public realizes. For Senator Bender and friends did not want to tell newsmen what Ike had told them. They had to be prodded by the White House into making a statement.

George Bender is quite a friendly, loquacious fellow. He talks to the press at the drop of a hat. But he did not want to give newsmen the discouraging news that Ike considered age a detriment to running again.

And it was only when Ike's press officer intervened and asked the Ohioans to report what Ike had told them that they spilled the news that GOP leaders had heard privately, but hated to hear publicly. In brief, the President deliberately wanted published the fact that he would be the oldest president in history if re-elected and his feeling that the burden of the presidency erodes a man's health.

Health Exams for Candidates

Eisenhower deserves a lot of credit for being so frank with the American public. FDR was not so frank.

Ike's frankness coincides with sentiment in Congress to set up a medical board to examine all presidential candidates of both parties before the nominating conventions. The fact that Senator Taft, Republican, died shortly after an election which might have made him president; that Wendell Willkie, Republican, died shortly after a nominating convention which might have picked him for a second time; and the fact that Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat, died just four months after taking the oath of office has spurred the idea of health examinations no matter who the candidate.

For the fact is, as Eisenhower indicated, that the presidency of the United States is the most physically crushing office in the world. And while the life span of the average American has increased, the life span of presidents has decreased under that crushing burden.

Over one-fifth of our presidents have died or been killed in office — seven in all — incidentally all being Republicans except Roosevelt. And the significant fact is that they have been dying younger as this country has grown bigger and the strain of the most difficult job in the world has increased.

Only three presidents were as old as Eisenhower when elected, two of them being generals. One, William Henry Harrison, lived one month after being elected. The other, General Zachary Taylor, lived little more than a year as president.

Taking the ages of the 33 past presidents, 60 per cent of them lived to the age of 66 — which will be Eisenhower's age at the end of his first term.

In more recent years our presidents have died younger. Of the last 22 presidents, only 50 per cent have lived to the age of 66, while of the last 15 presidents, only 46 per cent have lived to the age Eisenhower will reach at the end of his first term.

These are the sobering facts Eisenhower has been considering, and one reason why he talked to Ohio Republicans so frankly about the erosion of age in the life of any man who occupies the White House.

Throttling a Notch

Some alarm has been shown in recent weeks over the great expansion in consumer credit, which is feeding the country's record business boom. So now the government has acted to put the brakes on in one important field — home-buying.

The steps were not severe. Veterans who up to now have been able to buy homes without a down payment will hereafter be required to put at least 2 per cent down. Purchases under FHA will call for a 7 per cent down payment instead of the present 5 per cent.

Both the Veterans Administration and FHA reduced the maximum term for repaying a mortgage loan from the present 30 to 25 years. Indications from builders are that this tightening will affect the housing market. Authorities had concluded that under the old terms buying a house had become too easy and painless.

But the credit expansion, of course, goes far beyond the housing field. Installment sales covering a wide variety of products, from automobiles to household appliances to TV sets have been pushing to new highs. Commercial bank loans to consumers rose about one billion dollars in the first half of 1955.

The total of consumer credit in all forms climbed to a record 31½ billion dollars in May of this year.

Some economic specialists have argued that there need be no great apprehension as this total rises, since the history of the country shows that the average American — the fellow who is piling up this monumental debt — is a superior credit risk. The percentage of defaulters is normally very, very small.

Nevertheless, that same history suggests that if we would avoid serious ups and downs we must be particularly alert at the critical moment when a boom is soaring freely on credit wings. This is the time to show full resolve to control the upward spiral. For if credit is too easy, some people will overreach themselves. And that dangerous process can only go on so long. Then will come a heavy retrenchment that will affect us all.

There are many, many elements of stability in the economy which did not exist in the boom of the late 1920's. But there is no economy which is proof against unbridled, thoughtless expansion of credit.

In its housing action the government has taken beginning steps toward reasonable control of this boom. Raising the discount rates in some areas was another. Still more moves may be called for in the future. If the situation dictates, they should be made fearlessly, in the interest of the whole nation.

Thought for Today

And the nation to whom they shall be in bondage will I judge, said God; and after that shall they come forth, and serve me in this place.—Acts 7:7.

On you, my Lord, with anxious fear I wait. And from your judgment must expect my fate.—Addison.

The World Today—

GOP Counts on Ike; Democra's Gloomy

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The Republicans are contentedly putting all their bets on President Eisenhower's running again and winning in 1956, and the Democrats are gloomy about their prospects if he does.

That's the picture which emerges from this year's governors' conference in Chicago where most of the states' chief executives, Republican and Democratic, are meeting to discuss politics and their mutual problems.

At Chicago nearly all the Republicans who have done any talking for print are not speaking in terms of any Republican presidential candidate except Eisenhower. The Democrats who talked are divided and unenthusiastic about their prospects.

Because the Republicans are putting all their eggs into Eisenhower's basket, they seem destined for panic next spring if he says he will not seek another term. He has said he would decide in the spring.

They won't have much time left then to build up a successor for him. No other Republican is outstanding. But they probably won't have any more trouble picking a candidate in 1956—if Eisenhower doesn't run—than the Democrats.

The Democrats' hopes would soar, of course, if Eisenhower were out of the picture.

Here are some samples of what the Democrats at Chicago had to say: Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut; he doubts any of the three top Democratic candidates now could carry his state. The three he named: Adlai Stevenson, the Democrats' unsuccessful 1952 candidate; Gov. Averell Harriman of New York; and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey; as of today there's doubt any Democrat could beat Eisenhower in 1956. There is more sentiment in his state for Stevenson than for Harriman, he said, although he thinks Harriman is interested in the nomination.

(Harriman reaffirmed his own preference for Stevenson. He said he wouldn't encourage a move to nominate him. But he declined to say he would discourage it, either. This can be interpreted as running while standing still.)

And Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio—one Republican said Lausche was the best man the Democrats could find—issued what must be the master understatement of the year.

He didn't say he would like the Democratic nomination in 1956. He said he would not seek it "avidly or fanatically." This leaves him plenty of room to seek it without acting silly.

The best Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan seemed able to think of at the moment was more negative than positive. He said Eisenhower, now 64, is an "old man." Immediately Republican governors rushed to the defense of old men.

The Republicans, who offered no doubts about Eisenhower's candidacy and victory next year, appeared divided among themselves only on the question of what Democrat would be easiest to beat.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California, while predicting another Eisenhower victory, thought Stevenson would be a softer touch than Harriman. So did Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington.

Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana thought the Republicans would have an easier time knocking off Harriman. It was Craig who suggested the Democrats could put their best foot forward by nominating Lausche.

Dr. Jordan Says—

Cause of Hives, Treatment Are Mystery for Doctors

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Each year a considerable number of correspondents ask for a discussion about the strange condition known as hives or urticaria. This is generally considered to be a form of allergy though it is certainly not related to the seasons as is hay fever, another well known allergic disorder.

An outbreak of hives usually comes out of the blue, appearing on the skin with intense itching and reddish swollen spots of various sizes. The itching generally involves not only the raised spots but the entire skin.

Quite often the condition disappears almost as fast as it came on and sometimes lasts only a few hours. One of my children had an attack of this sort and I never did know what caused it.

In many cases, however, hives goes on for days or weeks and even sometimes turns into a chronic condition which does not disappear for months or years. This, of course, is the more troublesome variety.

Hives may follow the eating of some food to which a person is sensitive. It can also develop after drug or serum has been given, after infection, exposure to heat, furs, insect bites, and many other things. In other words, it is not a single disease but is a peculiar reaction in a sensitive person.

Urticaria differs from many other kinds of allergy in that a sensitive person does not always show a skin reaction when the offending substance is placed in contact with the skin. Often this failure of the skin to respond (a type of testing used in many allergies) makes diagnosis of the cause of hives particularly difficult.

Furthermore, no one knows why red spots should appear on the skin as a sign of sensitiveness. It does not seem to serve any useful purpose.

In spite of the common difficulty in picking out the cause, treatment is most satisfactory when an accurate identification of the offending substance can be made.

If strawberries, shrimp, or some particular drug are found to bring on an attack of hives it is usually easy to eliminate the offending substance and so avoid future difficulty. Thus, when the cause can be identified, the problem is solved unless sensitiveness develops to some other substance (and unfortunately this is by no means uncommon).

In chronic cases when the cause cannot be discovered the condition is most unpleasant. The skin is unsightly, and itching is often intolerable. In many instances, however, the use of drugs which are known as antihistamines — and these should not be taken unless advised by a physician — brings great relief. These drugs do not cure the underlying cause but often relieve the itching and cause the disappearance of the skin lesions for several hours at a time.

In many respects hives, or urticaria, is still a mysterious condition. The completely unexpected appearance of hives in a person who has never had them before is one of the many problems about this condition which has yet to be solved.

Hal Boyle's Column—

Gettysburg Is Busy Tourist Town After Bitter Battles

By ED CREAGH

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Almost 6,000 men had been killed in the battle. Hundreds more were dying by the day. Gettysburg — a peaceful bustling town today — was a chancell house in 1863.

So, to bury the dead, a cemetery was started. And a consecration ceremony was decided upon. That called for an orator. Edward Everett was the silver-tongued choice of all concerned.

Would he come? He would, he informed the committee, but he was a busy man. Couldn't they put the ceremony off a month or so?

They could and did — for Edward Everett. Then, pretty much as an afterthought, they sent an invitation to the President of the United States.

He came — on the date selected by Edward Everett.

Abraham Lincoln and his party came by train, after a horse-powered switch from one railroad to another at Baltimore. He walked from the station to David Wills' house in the village square.

There he stayed the night. He knew he would be called upon to make a few remarks so he brought some notes from Washington. He didn't think much of this first draft so he called in the reigning expert. Edward Everett was not the first nor the last outside consultant called in to help on a presidential address.

In the end, though, it was Abe Lincoln's speech.

He wrote it, painstakingly, on a little oval table you still can see in a little room over a drugstore here in Gettysburg.

But he didn't get to deliver it on schedule.

For one thing, the parade to the cemetery was late in starting. Then Edward Everett was a half-hour late arriving at the cemetery. He had been out inspecting the battlefield.

Every school child has been told what happened next. Everett spoke for two hours.

"Standing beneath this serene sky," he began, "overlooking these broad fields . . ."

It got pretty deadly before he was through.

Abraham Lincoln pumped Everett's hand and then spoke his own few words, starting "Four score and seven years ago . . ."

It is a tribute to his audience that those who could hear the President applauded — six times, according to the Adams Sentinel and General Advertiser's correspondent on the scene.

A few hours later, Lincoln stopped by at the Presbyterian church — where another Republican president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, sometimes worships today. Lincoln didn't stay for the end of the church exercises. His train to Washington was waiting.

Few people remember that, in the midst of all this tumult, Lincoln made another speech. A crowd gathered outside the Wills house and clamored for him. Finally, his tired figure loomed up in the doorway.

"I appear before you, fellow citizens," he said, "to thank you for the compliment. The inference is a fair one that you would hear me for a while, were I to commence to make a speech."

"I do not appear before you for the purpose of doing so, and for several substantial reasons. The most substantial is that I have nothing to say."

"(Laughter," reported the newsmen on the spot.)

"In my position," he went on, "it is somewhat important that I should not say foolish things."

"(If you can help it," a heckler interrupted, according to the same observer.)

"It very often happens," concluded the President, "that the only way to help it is to say nothing at all. Believing that is my present condition this evening. I must beg you to excuse me from addressing you further."

What ever became of Edward Everett, anyway?

Ottoville Water Tower

Ottoville Has Modern Water System

The new Ottoville water system is symbolized by an impressive 25,000-gallon storage tank which can be seen for many miles from town.

The system was approved by voters on July 16, 1954, when Ottoville residents voted a bond issue of $70,000 to have municipal water service.

The site was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holman in the northwest part of town, west of the old Ottoville College building.

Drilling of the well, which was done by W. C. Snell and son, Boonville, began in May and was completed with a total of 814 feet, eight inches. A one-hour test showed the water was flowing at the rate of 75 gallons per minute.

The system was put into effect on July 23 after 151 meters were installed and hooked up. Castle Brothers of Ottoville laid 23.51 feet of water mains. Installation of the pumps was done by the Hydromatic Corporation, New London, Ia., with engineering by Welch Engineering Co., Columbia.

In addition to this new utility, the citizens then bought and paid for a fire truck. A volunteer fire association has been organized with Charles Carson as fire chief. Thirteen fire plugs have been installed.

This project was supervised by the Missouri State Board of Health and the Missouri State Geological Survey.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (P)—An auctioneer convicted of falsely advertising five paintings as the works of celebrated French artists is appealing his $250 fine and suspended 60-day jail sentence.

A jury decided July 13 that Roy J. Goldenberg had made misleading statements in newspaper and catalog advertising, but that he had not made the statements with deliberate intent to defraud.

Goldenberg's attorney filed notice of appeal yesterday after Municipal Judge Henry H. Draeger levied the fine.

The auctioneer testified at the trial that he believed the paintings involved here authentic works.

Chiefs Will Play For First Place In B-J

Game Tonight at Liberty Park Will Set Standings

THIS IS IT—The Sedalia Chiefs don their uniforms tonight to take the field against the now first place Jefferson City Bears, in a playoff for the first place position in the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League.

The Chiefs have a second half record of seven wins against two losses for a percentage of .777; the Bears have six wins against one loss for a percentage of .857. With a victory tonight the Chiefs would have a 8-2-300 record to lead Jefferson City, who would have a 6-2-750 standing.

This is the point of the season for which the Chiefs have been waiting since starting their uphill climb in the last of the first half of the season. At that point the Chiefs switched managers and obtained Russ Gilmore, who had formerly been associated with a Dodger's farm club.

From that point on the boys on the club started performing as in big fashion, but more important as a winning team fighting together. The Chiefs still have some players who make outstanding plays and have a showy form that brings them close to the public, but this is not in the minds of the players for they have become a team with one purpose in mind—NOT TO LOSE.

Tuesday night the Chiefs played the Holden Chiefs, who at present hold the title of the fourth place semi-pro club in the nation. The game ended in a 1-1 tie after fourteen innings.

The experience of playing with the veteran men on the Holden club gave the Chiefs just the work-out they needed before going into tonight's decisive tilt where they have everything to gain by a win.

The outlook of the team itself is better than ever before. They realize this is the big one and their only desire is to win. This as a matter of fact has been their attitude for some time.

At the last crucial game the Chiefs had with Columbia last week, they clinched second place tightly with a win before the large crowd of the season. The people attending that game saw the winning spirit of the club in one of the finest games of the season.

The cheers of the crowd helped in the Chief cause too, as they will readily admit. The local tribe loves to play the game and with a large cheering section they are ready to go the limit to bring the second half pennant to Sedalia.

Although the win tonight would put the Chiefs in first place, Jefferson City has not played as many games and the end of the season could possibly wind up with a tie that would require a playoff between the two clubs. This is always in the back thoughts of the club, but foremost is a win tonight.

The Chief management urges the public to attend the game tonight and support the local club. There are no other ball games scheduled tonight as the Little League, Babe Ruth League and Industrial league are inactive.

Gilmore will start "Skip" Schulz on the mound.

Free tickets to the game tonight may be obtained from most of the dealers handling Beatrice Creamery products, who are sponsoring the game.

Favor Browns By 12 Over Collegiates

CHICAGO, P.—The Cleveland Browns are two-touchdown favorites to take the College All-Stars in their big battle at Soldier Field tomorrow night, but it may not be that easy.

After four years of famine—the last collegiate victory was the 17-7 defeat of the Philadelphia Eagles in 1950—promoters of the game (Chicago Tribune Charities) have introduced a streamlined all-star organization in an effort to turn the tide.

The new policy, announced last year after the all-stars' 31-4 defeat by Detroit, finds a hard-bitten crew of old pros led by Curly Lambeau of Green Bay Packer fame calling the shots instead of college coaches, as in former years.

Assisting Lambeau is Steve Owen, once head man of the New York Giants footballers; Hank Anderson, creator of those tough-old-time Chicago Bear Lines, and Hamp Pool, until recently head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Those veteran mentors have substituted the wide-open, predominantly passing game of the pros for the more stereotyped play of the collegians. They also have hand-picked 49 huskies for the job at hand, rather than permitting 70 or 80 all-stars to clutter up the camp as in previous years.

This hand-picked "professional model" aggregation recently hung a 9-6 defeat on the Chicago Cardinals in a practice game.

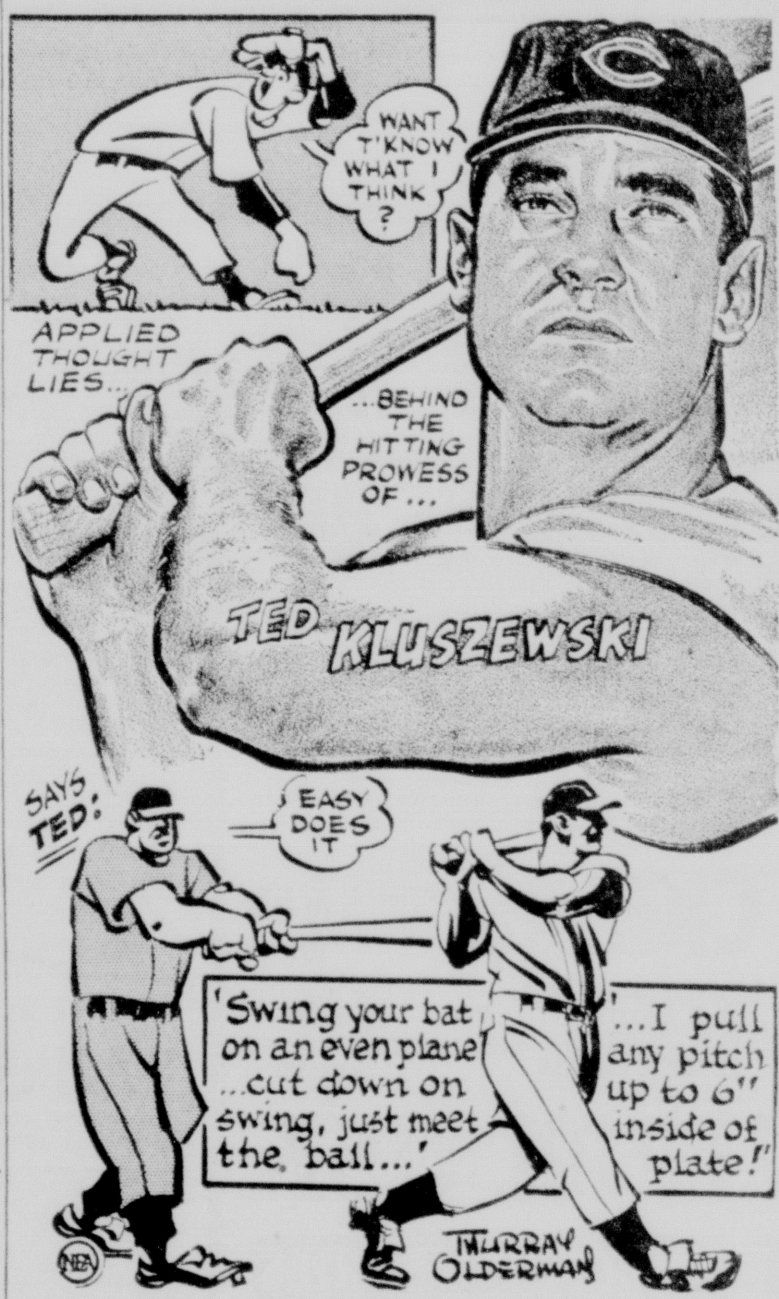

The game was expected to be played under fair skies in a 60-degree temperature.

It will be televised nationally (8:30 p.m. EST-ABC).

Lambeau announced he will start an offensive backfield unit of Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame at quarterback; Dick Moegle of Rice and Dave Middleton of Auburn at halfbacks, and Wisconsin's Alan Ameche at fullback.

BIG LEAGUE WAY

Baseball Roundup— Athletics Trim the Sox 5-4; Tribe 1st on Kiner's Homer

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Whoever thought the Kansas City Athletics would have a voice in the American League pennant race? Yet it's been the A's who have had the big say in the snarled flag chase over the past two weeks.

In that span, Lou Boudreau's sixth-place also-rans have thwarted the big contenders in five of nine meetings. And last night, they rapped the Chicago White Sox out of first place with a 5-4 decision, leaving the way clear for Cleveland to claim the lead for the first time since May 21 as Ralph Kiner smacked a ninth-inning grand slammer to trim Detroit 6-4.

That left the Tribe two percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who in turn are four points to the good over New York after the Yankees' 3-2, 13-inning victory over Boston. The defeat sent the Red Sox two games behind.

The A's, who took two of three from Boston and split a four-game set with the Yanks before matching Chicago 1-1 in their three-game series, belted the Chicks for two first inning runs on back-to-back triples by Vic Power and Enos Slaughter. Hector Lopez then put them beyond reach with a home run and single that made it 5-2.

Chicago had just four hits in seven innings off winner Alex Kellner, one a two-run homer by Minnie Minoso, while the A's were belting Harry Byrd. Then when reliever Tom Gorman opened the eighth, the Sox got two more runs, one on Bob Nieman's homer, before the rightlander fanned Minoso with the bases loaded.

Cleveland had home runs by Al Rosen and Hal Naragon (his first in the majors), but trailed the Tigers 4-2 on the strength of Earl Torgeson's two-run shot off Mike Garcia in the seventh. Then after pinch singles by Hoot Evers and Hank Foiles and Al Smith's bunt single, Kiner put Al Aber's first pitch over the left-field fence.

Two innings earlier, Aber had relieved rookie Jim Bunning to fan Kiner with the bases loaded.

Only Lou Gehrig (23), Jimmy Foy (17) and Babe Ruth (16) hit more grand-slam homers than Kiner, who has 13, in the majors.

An error by Billy Klaus and a drawn-in outfield that enabled Andy Carey to line a run-scoring single over the head of Ted Williams, broke up the Yank-Red Sox duel. Don Larsen, making it three straight since returning from the minors 11 days ago, took it over Frank Sullivan after New York had matched Grady Hatton's two-run single in the second with a pair in the third.

Rain postponed Washington at Baltimore in the only other American League game on tap.

In the National, Brooklyn topped New York 5-4 in a game called in the seventh by rain; St. Louis put second place Milwaukee 15 games back, 7-2; Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings, and Cincinnati took two at Chicago, 7-2 and 6-3.

Gil Hodges drove in three runs with a double and a single as the Dodgers packed their scoring in the first two frames. Karl Spooner won in relief after Roger Craig went wild in a two-run Giant fifth.

St. Louis smacked 11 hits, three each by Stan Musial and Alex Grammas, while Tom Poholsky held the Braves to six. Musial got his 1,000th extra base hit with a double.

Ted Kluszewski hit his 37th homer (his 200th lifetime) and the Cubs' Ernie Banks tied Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the major league lead with his 38th in the second game as the Redlegs snapped Chicago's six-game winning streak. Rookie Don Gross won his first

Musial Gets His 1000th Extra Baser

MILWAUKEE, P.—Stan Musial bagged the 1,000th extra base hit of his relatively short career on a line drive double last night and further cemented his place among baseball's greats.

Only eight other major league ball players hold membership in one of baseball's most exclusive fraternities. Stan now is in his 13th full year with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I guess that double I hit off Lew Burdette in the first inning rates among my dozen all-time thrills," a smiling Stan said after the Cards beat Milwaukee 7-2 to end a lengthy tailspin.

"After all," the modest slugger added, "there are some pretty fine ball players in that group."

The "group" includes Babe Ruth, Mel Ott, Lou Gehrig, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, Honus Wagner and Jimmy Foy.

Ruth holds the leadership with 1,356 extra base hits in a career that spanned 22 years. Ott, also with 22 playing years behind him, is the National League king with 1,071.

All of the others with the exception of Gehrig played 20 or more years. The late iron man went over the 1,000 mark during 17 years with the New York Yankees.

Musial said with luck he should pass Ott's senior circuit record some time next year.

"I should add 15 or 20 more extra base hits this year," Musial said, "and with some luck and if all goes well 70 or so next season."

"That's not bad for an old singles hitter."

Stan, who will be 35 in November, broke in with the Cardinals late in 1941.

Someone told Stan he should have at least five more years in which to add to his 316 home run total and his extra base production.

He stands 10th in the majors in homers—another milestone he reached this year along with his 2,500th base hit.

"No," he said. "I don't think so. After all, I'll be 39 by then. Two or three more years would be more like it."

"Maybe I could play more if it weren't for night baseball, but that takes a lot out of me. You sit around all day waiting for the game to start and you're tired by game time."

105 Enter The World Tourney, Worth $50,000

CHICAGO, P.—A field of 105 starry-eyed pros today start chasing golf's rainbow for the pot of gold going to the winner of the "World" Tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

One of them will be a wealthy man after the 72 holes are completed Sunday.

The champion receives $50,000, a $55,000 contract for an all-expense paid tour of 35 exhibitions, and an option to pay 50 more at $1,000 each.

Without a doubt, this extravaganza, climaxing nearly two weeks of competitive frolic on Tam's 6,900 yard playground, is the world's greatest "choke-up" tournament.

Joplin to Play For Little League Title

DES MOINES, P.—The Joplin Americans and the Ottumwa, Ia., Americans meet today for the sectional title of the Little League Baseball Tournament here.

John Sohosky pitched a four-hitter and blasted two homers as the Americans defeated Springfield, Ill., 17-0. Ottumwa won its first game yesterday, whipping De Pue, Ill., 7-0.

Little LEAGUERS

The score and certainly the batting prowess changed in the second game of the best two out of three series for the Little League championship played at Little League stadium at Liberty Park Wednesday night.

After the Kiwanis took an 8-0 victory in the first game Tuesday, the Optimists came back in the second played last night with a smashing 25-8 victory to make a third game playoff necessary.

The last game will be played Friday night at 7:30 p.m. and it will also be the final game of the Little League season.

The Optimists took fourteen of their runs in the first inning while the Kiwanians settled for two in the bottom of the frame.

Two more Optimist tallies came across the plate in the second inning as the Kiwanis club failed to mark in their end of the frame.

Neither of the clubs tallied in the third, but the Optimists blasted five more runs across in the fourth as the Kiwanis struggled for one.

The Optimists then settled down and drew two runs each for the last two innings as the Kiwanis added one and four respectively.

Couple Proves Cheap Movies Can Be Made

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD. (P)—The "do it yourself" craze finally has hit moviemaking.

The reason is Andrew and Virginia Stone, a husband and wife team who have made a real suspense thriller for $71,000. By Hollywood economics that is something less than peanuts—shells, maybe?

Called "The Night Holds Terror," the picture is a real sleeper. Best proof of this is that Columbia Studios has allotted a quarter of a million dollars just for advertising a $71,000 picture.

Andy reveals that the studio had outlined a $295,000 budget for his script on a "B" picture basis, i.e., using old sets, stock footage and quick shooting.

"That's the absolute minimum the picture could have been made for inside a studio sound stage," he reported.

So the Stones used their own studio — a station wagon and a couple rooms in their home. It's a real do-it-yourself operation.

Andy is producer, writer, director. Virginia is feature editor, cutter, casting director, wardrobe woman (designer and purchaser) and location scout.

They used no sound stages. All shots are made in actual locations. If the scene calls for a restaurant, Virginia contacts the owner, pays him a $100 fee and shoots the scene in a real restaurant—often with the regular customers.

If the shot calls for a moving automobile, they shoot it in a moving automobile-sound and all. This is usually considered impossible by most producers. Usually, technicians build a car interior and shoot the scenes on a sound stage. Synchronized film supplies the traffic atmosphere.

One of the best scenes in "The Night Holds Terror" shows how the telephone company helps police in tracking down a ransom phone call. The whole scene, with telephone company technicians acting their everyday jobs, was shot in a major exchange of the Pacific Telephone Co.

"How can you get more realistic than that?" asks Andy.

Although the Stones work with 15 people, less than a third of the crew used on a normal movie, they claim they have no union problems.

"I get nothing but cooperation from the Hollywood unions. They know my problems and I know theirs. I hire all union crews and pay over-scale. There's a thrill in making pictures this way and the crew gets as much of a kick of it as we do."

Nothing Static—Barbara Thomason is formulae, gauged, calibrated and antennae to be in tune with her title of "Miss Automation."

She'll reign during the Tenth Annual Instrument Society of America Conference and Exhibit, Sept. 12-16, at Los Angeles, Calif.

Adlai Is All But Official Candidate

CHICAGO. (P)—Adlai E. Stevenson was all but an official announced candidate today for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

In an informal and unusual news conference last night, the 1952 Democratic nominee made it plain to all who came to question that he will announce in November he is running again.

Without committing himself finally at this time, Stevenson outlined what he regards as a possible winning Democratic campaign against President Eisenhower. He said he doesn't believe Eisenhower is "invulnerable" despite the outcome of a similar race three years ago.

The Stevenson campaign credo, as revealed at a crowded news conference after a cocktail party and dinner given by former Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, was this:

1. Eisenhower has "sharply reversed" the previous GOP foreign policies in favor of "bold and vigorous" action at the Geneva Big Four conference but those policies could change for the worse again "at any moment."

2. While the Eisenhower administration now seems to agree generally with the Democrats in Congress that action is needed on education, health, housing and highways programs, the Republicans only make promises "and the Democrats believe in action."

3. He has "some misgivings" about the threat offered by the Republicans to federal development of natural resources and what he said is the Eisenhower administration's opposition to "the Democratic concept of government for all of the people and not the few."

Having laid down this outline, the tanned and healthy appearing potential candidate told reporters he will have something definite to say about his political intentions by November.

Rains Drench Japan

Debates Brew Over Safeness Of Big Credit

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK. (P)—Those hordes of shiny, brilliantly hued cars flashing by you on the highway — are they running people too much in debt?

The unusually large stocks dealers' hands as the 1955 model year nears the close — will they be sold at a profit, or at big discounts and dangerously liberal payment terms?

It's one of the hottest debates today.

Never before have auto makers turned out so many cars. Never before have Americans bought so many. Never before has outstanding automobile credit been so huge.

Before World War II Americans owed 1 1/2 billion dollars on their cars. This summer they owe 12 1/2 billion.

Auto makers and finance companies say there's nothing to worry about. National income has gone up steadily. The load isn't too heavy for prosperous Americans to carry, they say, and besides — much of the present prosperity is due to credit buying.

For proof they point to the low rate of repossessions, to the American habit of meeting payments even when things tighten up a little.

"Our auto loan delinquencies are at an all-time low," says F. R. Wills, president of General Motors Acceptance Corp.

Universal C.I.T. Corp. reports that since the war Americans have financed 84 billion dollars to buy cars and have so far repaid 72 billion. It thinks to million car buyers will complete payments this year — and be driving debt-free cars.

But others aren't so sure. The Federal Reserve Board, for example, is nervous about the total debt in all fields. Corporate debt has been going up, and bank loans to business have grown at a season when they usually crop. The Federal debt creeps higher, and state and local indebtedness swells at a faster rate. The home building boom has been fed by easy mortgage terms.

The National Automobile Dealers Assn. warns its 30,000 members: "There's nothing smart about too liberal credit terms. Right now, it's up to dealers to put a stop to crazy credit, and start back on the road to sanity."

MFA Shuns Alliance To Governor, Labor

COLUMBIA — Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers' Association, says the organization won't make any endorsements for governor or enter into any formal alliances with labor.

Heinkel made the statement here yesterday at the end of the cooperative's 37th convention.

"The 32-member board of directors of the central organization of the M. F. A. will not endorse anyone for governor nor enter into any kind of political activity," Heinkel said. "To do so would be against our own interests, since our objective is to help farmers regardless of political affiliation. "We will, of course, continue to state our position on legislative matters, past and future. If these are endorsed by candidates for public office, then it is up to our own members to decide whether they want to support the candidate for that reason.

"As for labor, we have not made and will not make in the future any kind of an arrangement which might be described as a secret alliance or behind-the-scenes maneuver. That does not mean that our officials in the future might not have lunch or confer with labor leaders. We have in the past."

The organization claims to represent 153,839 members.

FBI Claims Bank Robbery Now Solved

NEW YORK (P)—The FBI says it has cracked the largest cash bank robbery in history, seizing two men as alleged members of a smooth-working quartet who held up a Queens bank to the tune of $305,000.

Warrants were issued for two other men thought to have been the ringleaders in the carefully planned holdup. A fifth man has been held as a material witness.

Arraigned yesterday and charged with violating the National Bank Robbery Act were James McCoo, 36, and Frank Cocchiaro, 34, both of Astoria, Queens — not far from the looted Woodside Queens branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

McCoo, accused of taking part in the robbery, was held without bond. Cocchiaro was held in $50,000 bail, charged with aiding and abetting the stickup.

Cocchiaro's wife, Mildred, was a teller at the Woodside bank when four bandits appeared on the morning of April 6 and made off with their record haul without firing a shot. Mrs. Cocchiaro since has resigned.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Windels said none of the stolen money has been recovered. Windels also said that the holdup was partly an inside job but did not point a finger at any employee.

Redmond (Ninny) Cribbins, 48, alias Mike Malloy, and Thomas (Duke) Connelly Jr., 30, both veteran criminals, are sought for questioning.

Vincent W. Kritil, 23, a Fire Island bartender described as "knowing" Cribbins and Connelly, is held in $40,000 bail as a material witness. Windels said he feared for Kritil's life if he were freed on bond. Authorities said Kritil has no criminal record.

A bank employee identified a rogue's gallery photo of Cribbins the day after the robbery.

Connelly, with a long prison record, dropped out of sight about the time of the holdup. His wife, Ann, and their two children, George 2, and Veronica, 3, disappeared about 10 days later.

The children were found aban-

Lions Hold Talk On SAFB Picnic At Their Meet

The Sedalia Lions Club at its noon day meeting Wednesday discussed the Sedalia Air Force Base Picnic held each year by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Anna Ragby, chairman, appeared before the club and explained the picnic and the desires for Lions' participation.

The picnic is to be held Tuesday, Aug. 16, at Liberty Park.

District Governor E. B. Smith, a member of the Sedalia Club, made his official call on the club at this meeting. He spoke briefly.

The annual Lions Club social to be held on the used lot of the Mike O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick Motor Co. and on Fourth Street, was discussed extensively. Entertainment is to be furnished during the social.

During the evening the Missouri Valley Boys, a string band, will entertain.

Several dance numbers will be presented by members of the Peggie Hewitt Homan School of Dance. Participating members will be Sue Turk, Linda Reed, Nancee Homan, Kay and Bobby Grandstaff, under the direction of Miss Antonia Roy of the school.

Farm Population Down Over 11%

WASHINGTON (P)—The government estimates the nation's farm population declined 11.6 per cent in the five years ended last April 1.

The number living on farms this year was put at 22,158,000 compared with 25,059,000 in 1930 in a survey issued yesterday by the Census Bureau and the Agriculture Department. The nation's total population increased from 151,132,000 to 164,595,000 in the same period.

Largest large-tooth aspen in the United States stands 69 feet tall and is located near Sumner, Mich.

done last July 27—one in Baltimore, Md., and the other in Wilmington, Del.

To get into the bank the bandits, one carrying a submachine gun, first kidnaped the bank's chief clerk outside his home and opened the bank door with his keys.

CONTACT — When it is important, Pfc. John McBride of Finley, Tenn., can keep in constant touch with the officers directing his activities. He's shown at Camp Carson, Colo., demonstrating a tiny radio receiver which straps to helmet.

Teachers Attend Meet For School Leaders

Mrs. Anna Belle Lee, 1520 South Kentucky, and Mrs. Gladys Leiter, Route 2, Sedalia, went to Bunker Hill Ranch Resort near Mountain View Wednesday to attend the MSTA-NEA Leadership Conference for presidents of community teacher associations. Mrs. Lee is president of the Sedalia Community Teachers' Association and Mrs. Leiter is president of the Pettis County Teachers' Association.

Program participants at the conference will include Glenn E. Snow, Washington, D.C., assistant secretary for lay relations of the NEA; Mrs. Irma Detjen, Webster Groves, president of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers; and the following officers of the Missouri State Teachers' Association: Dr. Harold L. Lickey, Marshall, president; Miss Reuby S. Moore, St. Joseph, vice-president; and Everett Keith, Columbia, executive secretary. The conference will end Friday.

Formula Set For Speedy Mail Returns

The safety, speed and sureness in the delivery of the U.S. mail will be improved if the users of the mails follow ten basic postal pointers outlined today by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

"The users of the mails can help themselves get better mail service by following these ten suggestions," Mr. Summerfield said. "I feel certain the American people will cooperate with the Post Office Department in this mutual effort to provide the best mail service possible."

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly or print plainly. Where applicable, use zone numbers. Avoid using abbreviations which might confuse mail handlers.

2. Always use a return address in the upper left hand corner of both letters and packages. When you do so, you prevent undelivered mail going to the "dead letter" office.

3. Do not enclose coins or hard objects of any kind in letters, without marking the envelope for hand stamping. High speed cancelling machines cannot process such letters, often jam and damage letters.

4. Do not mail cash. For safety's sake, use Postal Money Orders or checks.

5. Make certain parcels are well packed and securely wrapped. Enclose a card with your return address and recipient's address. This precaution permits delivery of your package if the wrapper is damaged.

6. Double check to make sure your mail has the correct amount of postage. "Postage Due" delays letters and disappoints recipients.

7. To speed letters through cancelling machines, be sure stamps are in upper right hand corner.

8. Insure parcels. Register letters of real value. Use Certified Mail for letters of no intrinsic value where only proof of delivery is required.

9. Mail early and often. Earlier mailings mean earlier deliveries because your letters or other mail catch earlier trains, planes or other transporters of mail. Large mailers should separate mail into local and out of town bundles.

10. Make sure your correspon-

Lightning Kills 22 Steers Near Windsor

Twenty-two head of white face steers averaging about 1,100 pounds each were found dead Tuesday morning in a pasture on the Waldo Wheeler, Jr., farm nine miles southeast of Windsor.

It was believed the cattle were killed by lightning during the storm that struck the area last Friday afternoon. Twenty of the steers were huddled together under a hedge tree that gave evidence of having been hit by lightning.

The loss was estimated at about $4,500 and was insured.

Since the cattle were huddled under the tree, it is reasoned they were struck in the afternoon. If it had happened during the night it is likely the cattle would have been out in the open pasture.

Wheeler discovered the loss when he went Tuesday morning to see how the herd of 79 in the pasture were getting along.

dents have your address. Always use zone numbers, where applicable. Be certain your correspondents are notified of any change of address.

"Every postal employee," Mr. Summerfield emphasized, "is happy to answer questions on postal rules and regulations. Their years of experience in postal service makes them experts in solving postal problems. I suggest that anyone having problems about postage rates or postage matters see his local Postmaster."

New Fertilizer Plant

HAMMOND, Ind. (P)—A new plant is going up here to produce 300 tons of ammonia a day for fertilizer. It will use hydrogen, a by-product of gasoline production, and nitrogen distilled from liquid air. Farmers use special equipment to inject ammonia into the soil to replace nitrogen used by plants. The plants cannot use nitrogen until it is combined with hydrogen, as in ammonia, or some other element. Agronomists say the growing of 60 bushels of corn on an acre will remove 95 pounds of nitrogen from the soil.

How To Choose and Use Your Refrigerator
When you buy a refrigerator
— whether it is run by electricity, gas, or kerosene or cooled with ice — you'll want to be sure you are getting one that will hold safe refrigerating temperatures, operate efficiently, and last for many years. You'll want also to consider the features that make a refrigerator easy to use and adaptable to the special needs of your family.
You'll find a great variety of models to choose from. And you can expect constant improvements
— changes in design, new finishes, added convenience — as new models become available.
You may not be able to judge
whether a refrigerator is well built.
Construction factors that count most are hidden. Labels do not tell how the refrigerator is built or how it will perform. But if a refrigerator is made by a reliable manufacturer, you can be reasonably sure it will give good service for many years. You can expect it to hold safe refrigerating temperatures without undue operating costs.
The cabinet will have good insulation — material such as cork or fiber glass between the outer and inner walls — to help keep out heat.
The cabinet may be all steel or it may have a wooden frame with metal inside and out, but either type is satisfactory.
Hardware will be of good quality, nonrusting metal. Strong hinges will keep the door from sagging.
Most present-day electric refrigerators have a completely enclosed motor unit, known as a "hermetically sealed" unit. However, an open-type unit will operate just as well.
If you choose a gas refrigerator, find out whether it carries a AGA star of approval. This seal shows that the refrigerator meets requirements for good construction and performance developed by the American Standards Association.
Look for the seal of the Underwriters' Laboratories on an electric, gas, or kerosene refrigerator.
It means the refrigerating system and electrical connections are approved as safe.
Read the guarantee carefully to find out just what it includes.
Most manufacturers guarantee that the refrigerator is free from defects in materials and workmanship. Usually the refrigerating system is guaranteed for five years and the cabinet and other parts for one year.
If you buy from a local dealer,
he usually takes care of any repairs covered by the manufacturer's guarantee. If the dealer has a service department, he can make repairs promptly; if not, he may have to send the parts back to the manufacturer. It is wise to find out whether there is an authorized service agency nearby before you buy; if there is not, you may not be able to get the right replacement parts when you need them.
Tomatoes
The tomato had to go abroad to make good. But, when it finally was accepted in this country, it became so popular that now it is a commonly used vegetable — second only to potatoes in the tonnage produced.

Tomatoes apparently originated in the Peru — Ecuador — Bolivia area of Andes. The Indians of Mexico have used tomatoes since prehistoric times, but tomatoes were unknown in this country until long after they were commonly eaten in Europe.
The Italians first grew tomatoes about 1550 and were apparently the first Europeans to eat them. Americans had the mistaken idea that tomatoes were poisonous and grew them as ornamental garden plants, sometimes calling them "love apples."
Tomatoes are valued most for Vitamin C, although they are not as rich in this vitamin as citrus fruit. Some varieties of tomatoes are usually better sources of Vitamin C than others, but the intensity of the light in which tomatoes are grown affects their Vitamin C content more than variety. Summer field-grown tomatoes are richest in Vitamin C, containing about twice as much as winter and fall greenhouse tomatoes.
Tomatoes also furnish some Vitamin A and very small amounts of other nutrients. They are recommended on reducing diets, because they contain so few calories. There is a larger percentage of water in tomatoes than in milk and many other foods. A medium-sized tomatoe will supply about 33 calories.
How to buy fresh tomatoes
Choose tomatoes that are fairly well shaped, plump, smooth, firm, of good color, and free from blemishes. Size and shape are less important if tomatoes are to be stewed or cooked with other foods.
Well-shaped, medium-sized tomatoes are best for slicing.
Avoid tomatoes that are shrunken and bruised. Serious bruising increases chances of decay, and decayed tomatoes develop undesirable flavors.
Select tomatoes without damaging them. Handle them gently and avoid bruising.
When buying packaged tomatoes, look for the markings indicating the "net weight" as well as the number. Unless the net weight is indicated, it is not easy to know how much per pound is being charged.

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP)—Photographer Charlie Pence was going about the routine of taking pictures and getting names at an engagement cocktail at the home of a physician.
While he was finishing the assignment, the doctor walked up, put his hand on Pence's shoulder and said:
"You've been so nice to us I want to do something for you . . .
so I'm giving you a due-bill for an appendectomy."

Wife Is Sedalian—
Lt. Colonel Does New Things
First, With Great Appeal

St. LOUIS, Mo. — Some people are happy to go through life following in the footsteps of others.
For Lt. Col. Ford E. Allcorn of the Transportation Supply and Maintenance Command, St. Louis, the novelty of being the first one to do something new, has a greater appeal.
A native of Boonville, the colonel is married to the former Miss Lucille Rynard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rynard, 904 South Stewart, Sedalia.
The stocky senior Army aviator from Boonville has compiled a good many "firsts" while flying for the first Army in the world to use light planes as aerial observation posts.
Assigned to Army aviation since its formal inception, Col. Allcorn was one of 14 students who graduated in October, 1942, from the Army's first flight class at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.
He was the first Army aviator to fly in combat during World War II; the first to take off from an aircraft carrier and the first to be shot down. He also somewhat refused to claim the distinction of being the first Missourian to be wounded in World War II.
Shortly after his graduation from the Fort Sill course, Col. Allcorn headed for North Africa with the invasion fleet. He was in command of a three-plane flight of L-4 Piper
Cubs aboard the carrier Ranger.
Col. Allcorn led his flight off the Ranger when it was some 40 miles off the coast.
"Taking off into the wind across the flight deck was no chore," he recalls. "I was in the air almost as soon as they let go of the plane."
Then his troubles began. The little planes were strangers to the rest of the fleet and despite their markings, more than one tense gunner did his best to knock them down. By the time the colonel had flown over the beachhead, his plane was somewhat the worse for wear. Then he was hit in the right leg by a burst from a French machine gun and had to crash land on a hilltop about two miles from the beach. His other two planes later landed safely and the pilots spent several days as prisoners.
Col. Allcorn is the only one of the three still in service. One was

Lt. Col. Ford Allcorn

later killed on the ground by artillery fire and the other has returned to civilian life.
The colonel flew in seven major campaigns during the war, first as air officer with IV Corps in the Mediterranean area and later as air officer for Gen. Jacob Devers' VI Army Group headquarters.
Gen. Mark Clark and Field Marshal Alexander of England were among the well known persons he flew at one time or another during the war.
Despite a brush with six Luftwaffe fighters, Col. Allcorn flew through the rest of the war unscathed. Anzio, he recalls, was a particularly rough spot, with troops on the beaches dependent upon their small planes for directing artillery fire and observing enemy troop movements. By leading enemy fighter planes over special em-placements of automatic weapons, the Army aviators almost wiped out enemy fighters sent to knock them down. Though they had no guns nor armor, the extreme ma-neuverability of the "grasshopper" planes enabled them to dodge such attacks.
Since the war, Col. Allcorn has attended the advanced course for artillery officers at Ft. Sill; the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and two flight courses — instrument and helicopter. He now holds all some 5,000 hours in the air and has received the Air Medal with

In 1950-52, he instructed Turkish pilots as a member of the U.S.

Group to that country and was presented with Turkish wings by the chief of ground forces there.
Until his assignment here, Col.
Allcorn was chief of the Training

Rangetop Supper for a Hot Day

FISH FILLETS with tomato-rarebit sauce is easy to make on top of the stove and beats the heat.

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Hot day ahead? The take it easy and have a fish course for supper that's quickly made on top of the range. Choose your favorite variety of fish fillets (fresh or frozen) and cook them in a sauce-pan until they flake easily — this will need only five minutes or so. While the fish is simmering, quickly put together a tomato-rarebit sauce to serve atop the fillets. You'll find this dish has just the right combination of blandness and zest to interest any lagging appetites.

Another day, serve the tomato-rarebit sauce over shrimp, still warm from the simmering water in which they were cooked.

This sauce makes a fine luncheon dish, too, when it is served over sliced hard-cooked eggs. Or the eggs may be halved and deviled, if you like.

We find asparagus (frozen or canned when the fresh is unavailable) makes a good accompaniment to either the fillets, the shrimp or the eggs. Add a salad of garden lettuce and sliced cucumbers, fresh fruit or fruit sherbet with thin crisp cookies, and you have a pleasant warm-weather meal.

Italian bread sticks are a crunchy go-along for the fillets or the shrimp. But with the egg and tomato-rarebit sauce, buttered toast is best.

SKILLET-STYLE FILLETS

Put a half cup of water in a large skillet. Add a slice of lemon and a half teaspoon of salt. Bring to a boil, then turn heat low. Add two pounds of fish fillets; if frozen fillets are used, thaw them until they can be separated before adding to the skillet. Cover the skillet and simmer until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork — 5 to 8 minutes. Serve with style Fillets.

COOKING OUTDOORS

Those readers who tell us of their interest in out-of-the-way cook books might like to know of one, published this year, called "Epicure and Charcoal" by Ashley Simms (Exposition Press). Written by a man who has traveled widely and explored, it is a personal record of meals cooked outdoors. A dozen or so of the recipes are devoted to fish and shellfish. All the recipes are delightfully informal, with helpful asides. It is obvious that the author has cooked some delicious food over an open fire and he enjoys passing on the details that so many more formal cook book writers omit. This is one of those cookbooks that makes good reading as well as good eating. Tomato-Rarebit Sauce. This will make six servings

TOMATO - RAREBIT SAUCE

Method: Melt cheese in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Add soup, onion, catchup, Worcestershire sauce, and mustard. Cook and stir constantly until heated through. Vigorously stir mixture, a little at a time, into slightly beaten egg. Add salt and pepper to taste. Return to top of double boiler; continue to cook over hot (not boiling) water, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Serve over Skillet-Style Fillets.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
GENEVA — Canada reported today that within 10 years she may be producing atomic power that can compete in some areas with coal and water power. And from 1970 on, two Canadian experts told the 72-nation atomic-for-peace conference, atomic power may begin to emerge "as a major, if not the major, source of electricity in Canada." J. Davis, an economist of Canada's Department of Trade and Commerce, and W. B. Lewis, research vice president of the Dominion's atomic project at Chalk River, Ont., made the report. They told delegates to the U. N. sponsored meeting that the performance of one of Canada's research reactors and other studies raised the possibility of producing power at 7 mills per kilowatt hour within the next 10 years. A mill is one tenth of a cent. "Atomic energy plants with an even better performance than this may well be under construction in Canada before 1965," they added. The Canadians said that because of their country's abundant water and coal resources, nuclear power must drop below 8 mills before it can compete "anywhere in Canada." "At 7 mills," they continued, "it might be able to compete with hydro or coal-fired steam power. However, these demands would be limited (in the near future).

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Thurs., Aug. 11, 1955 5
"But at 6 mills, the situation is different. The highly developed power-consuming region of southern Ontario—where imported coal will soon be the only alternative—could absorb large blocks of power in this cost range without creating even a temporary surplus of generating capacity."
U.S. railroads paid $61 million dollars in taxes in 1954.

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP)—Seven itinerant cows who can start from a flat-footed position and jump over his fence — sometimes — have Hughes County rancher Earl Clark almost tearing out his hair. Clark said the cattle wandered up to his ranch more than a month ago. The rancher said the strays amuse themselves by jumping his fences. He wouldn't mind if they cleared all the time. But he said sometimes from a flat-footed po-

First-Class Mail Received By Postal Dept. Numbers 60 Million Mark Every Weekday

Every single weekday of the year nearly 60 million pieces of first-class mail are fed into the post offices of the 244 major cities of the United States which normally account for about two-thirds of the nation's mail volume.

The gigantic task confronting the Post Office Department in handling this huge volume of letter mail is made even more difficult and complex because approximately 80 per cent of this total, roughly 48 million pieces of letter mail, is now received daily by these 244 post offices during a six-hour peak period from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

"The rapid flow of this daily volume of mail is essential to business and industry and they can help themselves get better mail service by cooperating with the '3-Point' Program of the Department," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today.

Briefly, the Post Office Department's '3-Point' Program involves:

1. The sorting of the mail into local and out-of-town bundles;

2. The tying and bundling of the mail; and

3. The earlier mailing of letters and parcels.

Those who mail in quantity are requested to tie their mail in bundles prior to mailing or delivery to the post office, with local mail separated from that for out-of-town recipients and regular 3 cent mail separated from Air Mail.

This sorting procedure, postal officials emphasize, is normally relatively convenient for business firms when out-going mail is stamped or run through meter machines, but this operation becomes extremely time-consuming when it must be done in the post office.

The Department is facilitating the bundling and sorting of first-class mail replacing the small corner boxes usually mounted on poles with larger standing boxes. In many instances these larger receptacles will be in pairs—one for local mail, and one for out-of-town. This mail is sorted upon mailing. These large boxes have the added advantage of being able to receive larger pieces and more items at any one time as well as bundles of letters.

Cooperative Mailing Racks are also being developed by the Department for use in sorting the mail in the lobbies of business structures. These racks usually hold three large mail sacks, appropriately identified, into which local and out-of-town mail is placed by the mailer.

Further, the Department has labels available without charge for distribution to patrons to be used in identifying outgoing bundles of letters. These free labels are of two kinds, one reading "All For Out-Of-Town," and the other, "All For Local Delivery."

The Department is also instituting certain procedural improvements in coordinating carrier and truck pick-up of the mails and in sorting and canceling procedures in the various post offices.

"The third step in our current effort to speed mail deliveries is based on the advantages of getting mail into the post offices earlier in the day than at present," Mr. Summerfield emphasized.

"If increased quantities of mail were received earlier in the day, our peak load would be reduced and evening out and a larger proportion of the mail could be placed on earlier trains, planes and motorized vehicles, thus assuring earlier delivery."

Typical of the advantages of early mailing is the fact that mail cleared in New York City in time to be placed on a 6:01 p.m. train for Cleveland will be delivered in Cleveland on the first trip the following day; but mail cleared only 11:16 p.m. train for Cleveland will not be delivered in that city until the second day.

"We know," Summerfield concluded, "that this '3-Point' Program to speed-up the mails can only succeed if the Post Office Department receives the active cooperation of the large business and industrial mailers. It is a mutual effort that can increase 'first-day delivery' in larger areas than presently possible. I am certain more and more business firms will sort and tie their own mail and get it to the Post Office earlier. It is in their own self-interest to do so."

Delivery of important business mail to both Kansas City and St. Louis and to other cities east or west can be advanced by at least 24 hours in most cases if Sedalia business firms would mail earlier in the afternoon. The last evening mail dispatched to these offices that will assure next-day delivery is closed at the office at 4:30 p.m. This means that mail that is expected to be delivered

Secretary Gets Men

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A gun-toting secretary thwarted a holdup here yesterday—because her huntsmen boss had left the weapon lying around the office.

Mrs. Adlee E. Craddock, 23, was working on some books in the mezzanine office of an appliance firm when a voice rang out below:

"This is a stick-up. Come on down with your hands up."

Mrs. Craddock obeyed—but not before reaching for a nearby shotgun and waving it at the men. The intruders fled.

An ambulance was summoned but Wilbur, still in possession of the turtle, refused to go unless his catch went with him.

Wilbur and turtle were taken to the hospital where the boy was treated for lacerations and bruises. Both were released in good condition.

A Quick Loaf Has Real Place in Summer

VERSATILE—Quick loaves like this fit nicely into meals planned for the hot weather.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Quick loaves have a real place in summer meals. Stored in a tightly covered container or wrapped tightly and refrigerated, they do not dry out. Sliced thin, they last for a number of days and cut down on baking.

They are so versatile they fit nicely into hot-weather meals. Serve our Oatmeal Nut Bread, for instance, with cold cuts and a vegetable salad; with fish or poultry and a hot vegetable; with fruit and cottage cheese salad; or at snacktime.

So one of these mornings, before the heat of the day is in full force, bake one of these loaves to have on hand for good eating. Or make a couple of them and put one loaf in your freezer; slices of the frozen bread may be put in the toaster or under the broiling unit of your range.

The trick in making most quick loaves is to mix lightly. Too much mixing produces tunnels, is inclined to make a loaf tough. When a recipe directs you to "mix only until dry ingredients are moistened," do just that.

To make quick loaves most successful, you ought to use the standard measuring cups and spoons you would in making a perfect cake. A standard glass measuring cup is fine for liquids. Standard graduated metal measuring cups — each set with four pieces, one holding ¼ cup, one holding ½ cup, one holding ¾ cup, and one holding 1 cup — are best for measuring dry ingredients.

A nest of sturdy mixing bowls in assorted sizes are also a help. So are wooden mixing spoons with either a solid bowl that is on the flat side, or a slotted bowl. If directions call for beating the eggs until thick and lemon or ivory colored, you'll need a rotary egg beater (hand or electric). If the egg needs to be beaten only slightly (just until the yolk and white are combined), you can use a small whisk or even a fork.

When a quick-loaf recipe calls for "shortening," you can use butter, margarine or a hydrogenated vegetable fat. And some cooks like to use a salad oil (but not olive oil) in place of any of these fats (when they are to be melted) because the salad oil is already liquid.

Most quick-loaf recipes use regular flour; if a pastry flour or cake flour is specified, it should of course be used.

The egg or eggs called for in a quick-loaf recipe will add moistness, nutritive value, color and flavor. Old-fashioned recipes for quick loaves were more likely to omit egg than are modern ones.

If you have your dry ingredients such as flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt near each other in a convenient place — along with your sifter — you'll find time is saved in preparation. Before you begin the recipe, get out the size of pan required and prepare it as directed — usually this means greasing the bottom and sides of the pan.

Our Oatmeal Nut Bread recipe may be varied. You may want to cut down on the nuts and add chopped dates or some raisins. This is a good idea if the bread is to be served to small fry at snacktime. You may also want to substitute pecans, for instance, for the walnuts.

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup uncooked rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned), 1 cup coarsely broken walnut meats, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, ¾ cup sugar.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; stir in rolled oats and walnuts. Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; beat in milk and sugar to combine. Add flour mixture; mix only until dry ingredients are moistened evenly. Let stand 10 minutes. Turn into loaf pan (1 pound size) after lining the bottom of the pan with paper and greasing the paper. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 60 to 70 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out of pan onto cooling rack. When bread is cold, store in tightly covered container overnight or one day before slicing.

Mustached Horse

RED BUD, Ill. (P)—Mrs. O. W. Godbey has proof that horses do have mustaches. Her father once had a plow horse named "Old Dick." It sported a six-inch handlebar which flourished in the winter when the horse ate in the barn. But during the summer, the grazing horse wore his facial hair to a mere stubble.

A photograph of "Old Dick" with his mustache in full bloom has been mailed to Mrs. Bessie Myers, a London housewife, who appealed to a newspaper for help in proving that some horses have mustaches.

Dunked in Tea

RICHMOND, Va. (P)—The Virginia Museum of Fine Arts moved two statues of marble maidens, but first gave them a bath. Pandora and Ceres were a startling soap-cake white instead of lustrous ivory.

What to do? Paint it with tea, artists said. It worked.
